

Generate added value through additional benefits: AEB professional services

User Coaching

The role of application management is to map and implement the business processes as successfully as possible.

Our service

We'll come on-site and look over the shoulders of your users working with AEB software, providing them with useful tips and tricks at the workplace.

All the users generally learn the basics in our trainings. Potential for optimization, however, is usually identified during the actual day-to-day business, e.g. by using the assistant or setting up initializations, which is why we suggest checking this knowledge after a while.

Your benefit

- Better user performance
- Quality improvements in the processes
- Skilled employees
- Additional and more in-depth information about the system

The options

You determine the number of users and days on-site based on your requirements.

The requirements

None.

The costs

According to expenditure. Costs per man-day EUR 1,200 plus expenses.
