Release Management

The role of application management is to map and implement the business processes as successfully as possible.

Our service

AEB assumes the release management of your AEB applications.

The release management includes tying up a software package from different sources, including the necessary tests. As a further step, the created package can be rolled out in accordance with the agreed change process (update service).

Your benefits

Your change requests, service packs and feature packs are coordinated according to your requirements and processes. This way your system is prepared for changes, leading to a better consistency of your applications for their respective business use.

The options

The number of releases per year and the extent is adjusted to your individual requirements.

Additional option

AEB adjusts your technical system documentation according to the changes made within the release.

The requirements

Before implementing the release management, a workshop must take place during which test cases have to be defined. For these tests, AEB must be provided with a system containing current data.

The costs

To be individually agreed.
